OUR JOURNEY

to SUCCESS

WE DEDICATE

To the numerous persons who have helped us through our High School careers we express our deepest gratitude and present to you this, your book.

Ever since we were struggling sophomores, the counselors and teachers have helped us tremendously with their knowledge and understanding. They prodded us onward, guiding us always in the right direction. When we became Juniors and felt the unity of our class as a whole, you faculty members were always there with a helping hand as we delved into our numerous class projects and activities. To our class sponsors we give a special vote of thanks. You've been "semper fidelis" all the way. We sincerely appreciate your efforts to make ours the greatest class ever to graduate from Roosevelt High School.

Another group of persons that well deserves our recognition is the fine maintenance staff at Roosevelt. They have always been most cooperative with our wildest projects and schemes and have given of themselves to serve us. We are sincerely grateful to you all.

Also, we dedicate to you, our parents, who have been most understanding and helpful during our high school days. We realize the many sacrifices you have made for us and we are grateful. You have always given freely of yourselves to assist us in whatever way possible. This is our way of saying thanks.

So to all those mentioned and to the many others that are in any way connected with the success of our class, we dedicate this, the 1961 edition of Wy-Hi to you.

Sincerely,
The classes of 1961
Karen Burson—editor

MR. JAMES E.
OSTRUM

If we were to accurately express our appreciation to Mr. Ostrum for all he has done for our class, it would take half of this entire book . . . no, the entire annual, if not more. Were we to list his good qualities in the same manner, it would probably take at least that amount of space. I'm sure none of us could fill a quarter page with his bad points. They are indeed few.

Versatility might well describe one of his basic qualities. Those who have had the privilege of working under him will vouch for this, I'm sure.

To tell you a little of our hard-working adviser's background, he played basketball and baseball and was captain of the baseball team in his senior year at Central Teacher's College in Wisconsin. He also played in the school band and orchestra.

At the University of Wisconsin, where he was graduated from the School of Journalism, he confined his activities to music and played in the University concert and marching bands and orchestra.

Shortly after his graduation, he came to Wyandotte as a reporter on the former Wyandotte Record. Later, he became editor of the former Wyandotte Daily News, one of the outstanding small dailies in Michigan.

He organized and was president for several years of the Down-River baseball and basketball leagues, organizations of Down-River Cities.

During his 16 years as publications adviser at Roosevelt High School, his Wy-News has consistently won top honors. Some of the things he has pioneered are an eight-column newspaper, also the use of newsprint rather than the magazine type paper to be more in keeping with a large daily newspaper.

These are some of the high-points of his life and they are indeed admirable.

We of the Senior Annual staff are quite confident that Mr. Ostrum is by far the finest such adviser in Michigan.

Mr. Ostrum, more commonly known to students as "Mr. O", is the most unselfish person on the face of this earth, as far as we are concerned. He gives freely of his time, and proves time and time again to be the most indefatigable person of all of us. He has exceeding patience but is firm in his instructions.

In working with "Mr. O", one learns the importance of accuracy and promptness, two characteristic traits which are inestimable when working on such a project as the Senior Annual or Wy-News . . . one more lesson learned in life's incessant struggle.

He was selected by Mayor Tom Davis on the first All-City Recreation Commission and served as its president for several years. During this time he was largely instrumental in planning the present recreation program in Wyandotte.

He was named on the re-organization committee of the Michigan Scholastic Press Association and later served as its president. He was the first man in Michigan to win the Golden Pen Award for outstanding work in journalism.

A few years after the organization of Kiwanis No. 1000 in Wyandotte, he was admitted to membership and served as secretary for three years and president one year.

Yes "Mr. O", we appreciate what you've done for us. We can only express our gratitude to you in small attempts such as this. But we can acknowledge our feelings better by demonstrating always our great respect for you.

We are very sincere when we say this annual could never have been, without your constant guidance.

Now as we venture farther into life's journeys, and some memories of high school fade away, you'll long remain, highly esteemed by the combined classes of 1961. Thank you very much.

FOREWORD

"Journey to Success."

For twelve years the more than five hundred 1961 graduates of Theodore Roosevelt High School have been packing for the "Journey to Success." How this packing has been done will determine to a great extent the destination of each.

Some have been most meticulous in the selection of articles to be packed for frequent use in the future; the packing has been neatly and intelligently done. Others have packed haphazardly, concerned more with getting the job done with as little effort as possible.

Many have selected non-sensically with the idea of attracting attention and popularizing themselves with their fellows. Their's was mediocrity in preparing for the future rather than a daring to be different through assertion of self-dependence; a fear of departure from the common mold instead of developing an individual personality.

Some have been frivolous in their selection of things to be packed for this great journey; others have been serious-minded as they catalogued and packed.

This packing has not been in overnight bags, pullman cases, steamer trunks and cosmetic containers. Rather, has it been done in the mind, in the heart, the body and the soul. Facts that were needed for future training and development were stored away for easy access by those determined to reach that terminal of success. Formed habits were carefully separated — the good ones being retained and the evil ones discarded.

Packing for the "Journey to Success" has been a slow, lengthy process for high school graduates everywhere, for as Shakespeare said in his Henry VIII, "to climb steep hills requires slow pace at first." "The Journey to Success" is not a wide, well-paved highway, but more often a difficult, unmarked path with hazards of disappointments and frustrations.

As the Roosevelt graduates have prepared for their "Journey" which begins on Commencement night, so will be their terminal of success.

To these graduates, as they leave on their great adventure mindful of the fond farewells of their well-wishers, goes this message so well penned by the late Edgar A. Guest:

"Somebody said it couldn't be done,
But he with a chuckle replied
That 'maybe it couldn't' but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried,
So he buckled right in with the trace of a grin
On his face. If he worried he hid it,
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it."

James E. Ostrum

Supt. P. J. Jenema

It has been said with considerable truth that only the very bad and the very good become acquainted with Principal C. J. Whitney during their three-year stay at Roosevelt.

That the hundreds of others do not get to know him is their loss. He has many sterling qualities beneath that hardened exterior that he sometimes has to exhibit.

Few men are as quick at perception as is Mr. Whitney. He is as quick to see the merits of a proposal as he is to see weaknesses and because he points out these weaknesses succinctly, many people feel that he is not sympathetic. Such is not the case.

He likes to keep his teachers "on their toes", alert and co-operative. At times he may jab a little, but you can be sure that he chuckles within, if there is a reciprocating jab.

Mr. Whitney is an excellent organizer, a keen student and an excellent judge of character. He finds a calm respite from the trials and tribulations of directing 1800 students and more than 70 teachers, each with different ideas, out among his flowers and vegetables.

A school system cannot rise above the ideals and vision of its superintendent.

That Wyandotte schools send out their rays of excellence far behind the confines of this municipality is due in large measure to the leadership of Superintendent Peter J. Jenema.

Were he limited to but one quality and the selection were left to the students, that quality would probably be his friendliness. Many a day that started out in bleakness for the school youth of the city found a silver lining peek through the cloud because of a friendly greeting from the superintendent.

Teachers would add another quality, that of interest in their behalf. His penned appreciation for any honors that may come to any teacher makes that honor more worthwhile.

We graduates of 1961 are indeed fortunate that we have had the friendliness of Mr. Jenema to spur us on. When he grasps our hands and offers congratulations as he hands us our diplomas, we will return his sincerity with our deepfelt thanks.

Deans

It is difficult for any youth, treading the path that is not in the best interests of the school, to offer any excuse or alibi that has not been heard many times in the court of law at Roosevelt High. Thomas Greig, who wields the wand of discipline, is well-versed in alibis and excuses. His experience has been such that he could voice excuses that the most hardened youth never thought of.

Mr. Greig has a personality that makes him admired by the teachers and respected by the students, even those who beat a steady path to his door. But don't try to put anything over on him. His personality can bubble in a nether direction when necessary.

A seemingly stern exterior covers a heart of gold and his efforts to keep the trouble-makers in line are extended with a keen knowledge of youth problems. His sympathy, and, when necessary his firmness, provide a great asset to the high quality of Theodore Roosevelt High School.

"What are little girls made of? Sugar and spice and everything nice; that's what little girls are made of."

If the above could honestly describe all high school girls, the work of Mrs. Dorothy Smith, dean of girls, would be pleasant, indeed. But, when serious problems raise their ugly heads because of bad home environment, wrong associates or false attitude, such problems find their way to the desk of Mrs. Smith.

To be a successful befriender of girls, a dean must be a sympathetic listener, an experienced counselor, come up with some laughter when necessary, be firm but just, able to delve into problems of all types. A dean must be deeply understanding, able to ferret out secrets and then keep such secrets.

One would think that being a dean of girls might make a person discouraged and at times despondent. Such is not the case. There is much satisfaction in the job because of getting to know the minds of teen-age girls and providing a spirit of comradeship that makes them real friends instead of doubters.

One of the requisites of a well-functioning school is an efficient office staff.

Roosevelt High School has a friendly staff, highly efficient and cooperative in every way. The general office is a reservoir of information at the beck and call of faculty and students as well as the general public. Dozens of times a day information on some subject is sought of the office staff.

Roosevelt's office staff is the "Most" of the "Best."

MRS. MODESTA

With so many problems of teenagers in this complex society of ours, a new phase of educational assistance has been the naming of counselors to smooth the path of the troubled.

A counselor, to do the best by the student, must have a wide range of experiences and also a vast knowledge of many subjects for many questions are asked of them. An efficient counselor must get to know the student and also know the qualifications that will enable the student to make good at college or in his chosen field.

A counselor must be sympathetic, must explore, along with the student, into many lines of endeavor. A counselor must be thoroughly versed in the school's curriculum so as to inform the students of what subjects they can take, and then study the student so as to advise properly. A counselor must not be arbitrary, except in the best interests of the students.

There is much more to being a counselor than making out a schedule at a minimum of effort. Counselors have an enviable position as they become confidantes of their counselees. Many times during a semester students come with questions and expect the right answers.

As the student nears the end of his high school career, the counselor must so know the student that he can give practical advice. Assistance is given in finding the proper job, if advanced education is not the goal.

For those going to college, there must be a direction of greatest assistance to the student. To function at the greatest efficiency, a counselor must know the strengths and weaknesses of a large number of colleges and direct the student to that college that will best train the student in the field of endeavor he desires.

Mathematics has always been stressed at Roosevelt. Now, in accordance with modern thinking, we are trying out an accelerated group which we hope will be able to get in a whole semester of college mathematics beyond trigonometry. Many R.H.S. students take the following tests:

1. National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.
2. School and College Ability Test
3. Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test
4. Prize Michigan Math Competition

The scores on these tests are well above the average score for all schools taking the test.

For boys who find plane geometry and advanced algebra too difficult, a third course in general mathematics is given in the sophomore year and refresher mathematics in the senior year. These courses aid them in getting jobs in business and industry, and in getting desired placement in the armed forces.

Our Science Department offers Physics, Chemistry and Biology — the fields where there is an ever increasing demand for young men and women.

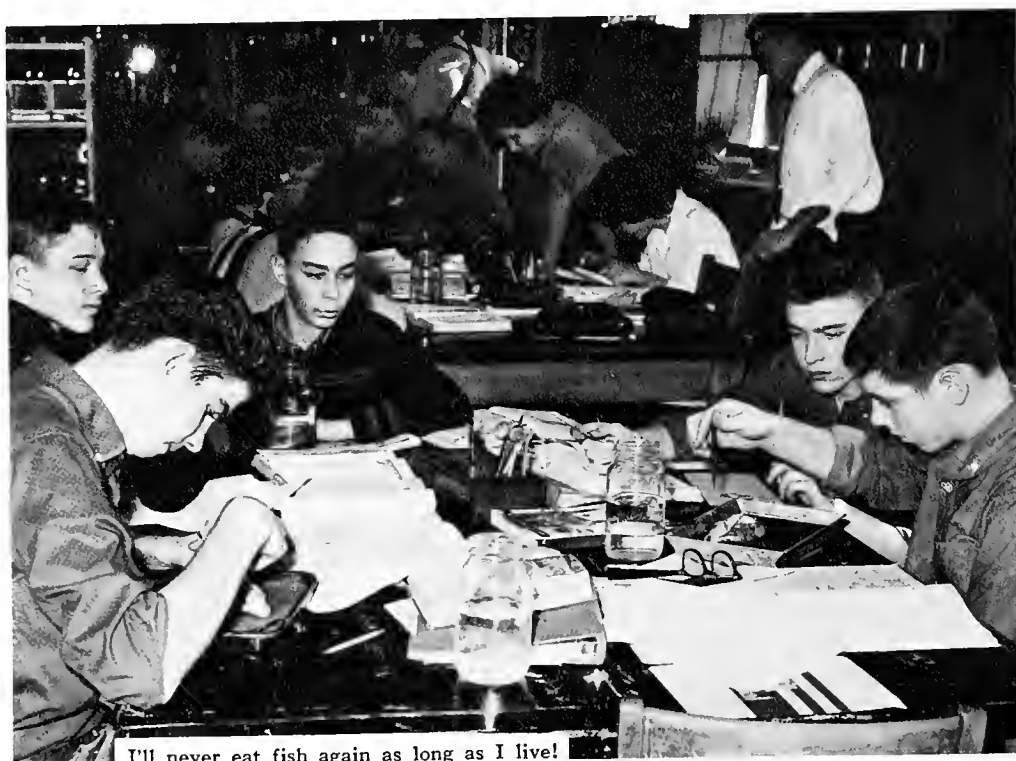

These teachers are preparing our youth for a trip to the moon; the conquering of disease; the attainment of world peace.

They are not only teaching their students the basic fundamentals of a complex field of study, but are giving a firm foundation to those who will someday shape a glorious future for ourselves and God's world.

College preparatory boys are required to take Physics; girls must take either Chemistry or Physics.

General course pupils are required to take one year of Physical Science. They may also elect to take Biology or College Preparatory Chemistry.

The excellent Science Departments and programs of today are the main factor in the training of Doctors, Scientists and Chemists of tomorrow.

During his last three semesters, every Roosevelt High School student studies American History for two semesters and Civics for one. All students on the general curriculum study World History during their first year in high school. Additional social studies courses are offered to all students on an elective basis. Commercial geography is offered primarily for tenth grade students. History-Through-Literature, planned for the junior year, combines American history with American literature study. The World As A Community Class (WAAC) has several juniors, although planned primarily for senior year students. The classes in World Affairs and in Social Science are intended for senior and second semester junior students.

In the six semesters of English, required by the English and Language department, students are offered a great variety of instructional areas: American, English, and Modern literature, journalism, and composition. An extensive speech program which includes discussion, debating, dramatics, and public speaking is offered to help students improve oral skills.

The English department sponsors "Pegasus", the school literary magazine, the "Wy News", a bi-monthly newspaper, and the senior annual.

The Language department offers two foreign languages, Spanish and Latin.

The newly installed electronic language laboratory will permit teaching of these languages by actual communication through student-teacher recordings, records, and dictation.

Roosevelt, like many other schools, is beginning to recognize the new importance of languages in our modern space-age. A newly installed language laboratory was a big challenge to Spanish students and teachers last fall. The cost of the equipment, installation, and much of the materials for the laboratory have been under-written by our national government under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act.

Two languages, at the present, are offered to the students: Latin and Spanish. The basic two-year courses are offered plus advanced classes if desired.

The study of languages will in time graduate to a more important place in our education. A good knowledge of a language breeds a better understanding of our foreign neighbors. Through this understanding will someday come world peace.

The Commercial Department of Roosevelt High has held high standards in the Downriver area. It has helped students to venture out into the business world as skillful and responsible employees.

Besides all the classes that are offered to make the student a better office worker, stenographer, or bookkeeper, a new Salesmanship Class has been added. This class highly benefits the person who would like to make his career in selling. There have only been three semesters of this class and it has already proved itself quite valuable.

The Commercial Department is backed by many highly trained teachers. With their training and guidance we have sent out into the business world many capable and reliable people.

Clothing tries to teach each girl the art of sewing attractively and neatly, as well as how to sew to fit each personality.

Learning how to prepare a delicious, attractive and well balanced meal is the purpose of the foods class.

Child care, taking temperatures correctly and caring for the sick are the subjects taken up in Home Nursing. Home Nursing is offered for one semester.

Offered only to seniors is the Home and Family Living class. It deals with before, during, and after marriage. It also hits on the subject of budgeting.

Home Planning offers help on decorating, budgeting, and how to manage a home.

All these courses prepare oneself for the role of a successful homemaker.

Students may begin vocal music training as sophomores in the various boys' glee clubs and girls' glee clubs which are offered at Roosevelt. The mixed chorus is composed of a great number of second semester juniors and many seniors. The goal of all music students is the A Cappella Choir which is limited to seniors, all of whom must tryout before becoming members.

The smaller groups play an important part in the vocal department. These are the Jr. Girls' Ensemble and the Boys' Ensemble, directed by Kenneth Hansen, the Sr. Girls' Ensemble and the Tune Toppers, directed by Miss Eleanore Bennink.

The bulk of the work of the various vocal organizations is toward their performances in many programs throughout the school year. Such programs are the Boys' Glee Club Concert, the A Cappella Choir Concert, Thanksgiving Assembly, and the Christmas Assembly. The biggest of these is the Annual May Festival, in which all vocal groups participate. The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Eleanore Bennink, also presents several small programs for various groups in the city during the Christmas and Easter seasons.

There are three instrumental groups in R.H.S. They are Blue band, Gold band and String Orchestra.

The Gold band, under the direction of Mr. Ken Hauer, is made up primarily of seniors and top musicians of the under-class.

The Wyandotte Chiefs Marching Band consists of members of the Gold Band and a few from the Blue Band.

"Neither snow, nor sleet, nor dark of early morning shall stray them from their course", is their motto. The band members have to come for those zero hours many mornings to practice on the field.

The "Chiefs" entertain us during halves of the football games. They also play at the Michigan State Fair, at Wyandotte's 4th of July parade and journey to U. of M. on Band Day.

The String Orchestra, directed by Mr. Frances Harlow, is made up of all string instruments, including violins, violas, basses, cellos and a piano. They present an annual formal concert and participate in the Christmas concert.

All of these instrumental groups end the year with a trip to Interlochen Music Camp. This trip combines learning and fun for one wonderful week.

The money for the trip is earned partly by selling Christmas candy, activity books, working at the candy stand, record hops and partly by their own personal expense account.

Believing that education and health go hand in hand, the Administration at Roosevelt High makes possible physical training for all students.

With only one gymnasium for the use of both sexes, it is necessary to alternate activities in the gym and pool. Three times a week the girls use the gym and the other two days utilize the pool. The boys alternate with the girls.

When the weather permits — in the fall and spring seasons — the girls hold their classes out-of-doors. Main activities are softball, tennis, soccer and a series of physical fitness tests. Basketball, badminton, tumbling and volleyball keep the girls screaming with delight and excitement when the classes are indoors. Modern dance and body building exercises limber the body and provide popular activities.

Touch football, soccer and track activities are employed by the boys during the outdoor seasons. Volleyball, basketball, baseball, relay races and other activities keep the youths active in the gym.

The Roosevelt Art department is one of the finest in the Detroit area. Students are exposed to different fields of art and a good cultural background. The visiting of important exhibits in Detroit and vicinity, as well as a special trip to Cranbrook, are among the many attributes of an art student at Roosevelt.

Here at Roosevelt, art students are trained to be creative thinkers. They are given ample opportunity for specialized instruction in art, according to their abilities, interests, talents, and skills.

Each year, art students enter their work in the Scholastic Art Exhibit at Crowley's Department Store, where honors are awarded to the best and most original work.

The Industrial Arts department is composed of five sections which are machine shop, technical drawing, auto shop, wood shop, and general metal shop.

By taking any or all of the above offered courses, a student receives a sound fundamental knowledge of machine tool practice, a basic course in drawing and blueprint reading, practical experience on the mechanics of the automobile, training in the use of hand tools and wood working machines, and training in metal working processes.

The opening of the new annex in 1957 has greatly improved the standards and conditions under which the industrial art students work. Visitors to the new shops have praised the neatness and the quality of the work accomplished.

they piloted us through thick and thin

Everyone seemed so "big" to us as we entered Roosevelt in January of 1958. It seemed to us we'd never become Juniors, much less seniors.

Our sophomore year was spent with our studies, but we did take part in activities which made us a part of the school. We even ordered our rings.

It seemed like no time at all when January 1959 arrived and we were the proud new Juniors! We were thrilled at the thought of being one class as a whole. We started off by electing Eddie Martin as our top executive. Doug Hindley served as vice-president and to round it off to a happy foursome, Shirley Jones was elected as secretary and Bonnie Hampton as treasurer.

Now we headed full force into our first big activity, the "Christmas Cabaret." We worked so hard transforming the gym into a Yuletide wonderland that we were exhausted when we arrived at the dance.

Our Junior Play, "A Roomful of Roses," will go down in history as one of the greats. The parts were perfectly cast and the set was absolutely fabulous. For Mr. Charles Burkett, beloved dramatics teacher at R.H.S., it was the last play, for he moved soon after to Paw Paw, Michigan.

Hands adorned with brand new, shiny class rings flashed everywhere for weeks after the big event. Now we were really the class of 1961.

Our Junior Prom, "Holland Holiday" was a huge success. It was lots of work, plenty of excitement and so much fun.

Then came January, 1960. We were mighty Seniors. Our new executive board consisted of John Visingardi as President, Doug Hindley as re-elected vice president, Margaret Tucker was chosen secretary and Janet Stamper acted as treasurer.

We officially became seniors when we turned our rings around.

Our Sr. Play was also a huge success. It was "The Golden Fleecing," a roaring comedy filled with our top-notch drama students. The new dramatics teacher, Miss Janet Mix had her first success.

Graduation was just around the corner and we were finding that our wonderful days at Roosevelt were quickly coming to a close.

Our Sr. Prom was truly a night to remember. After days of work "Midnight Myth" became a reality and we danced all evening, clinging to our last experience at R.H.S.

Commencement was a thrilling night, full of joys and sorrows. The all-night party was our final farewell, yet for many of us, we'll never say good-bye, for our years at Roosevelt have made us inseparable friends. We'll always remember and be proud of the January Class of 1961.

Valedictorian

Boys outdid girls in scholastic achievement and won the two top scholastic honors for high averages in the January class of 1961.

Dennis Frostic, with a scholastic average of 3.893, earned the salutatorian honors and became second in line to receive his diploma on graduation night.

One of the most thrilling experiences of Frostic during his high school career was when he was chosen as an exchange student under the American Field Service and spent a summer in Germany as a goodwill messenger from Wyandotte's student body to his foster family in Europe. The exchange of customs, ideals, educational policies, etc., was highly worthwhile for the salutatorian.

Frostic was also a member of the WAAC class and became another goodwill ambassador to Wheatridge, Colorado teenagers. Always willing to put forth efforts for the good of his class, Dennis served on the ticket committee for the junior play, ushered at Commencement and was chairman of the float committee at the 1960 Homecoming.

He was a member of the Ski club, was named to Tri Alpha and was also named to the National Honor Society.

Third high

To be valedictorian and president of his class is a dual role that but few high school graduates accomplish. John Visingardi did it.

With a scholastic average of 3.95 during his high school career, the valedictorian sailed through his courses with an almost straight A average.

Studies did not occupy his mind and energies to the exclusion of all else, for he was athletically inclined and won a Varsity letter. He played on the baseball team for three years and served as statistics manager in basketball.

His athletic ability made him eligible for the W club in which he became a leading member. He also served on the ticket committee for the junior play.

Visingardi's ready smile and personality made him popular, not only in his class, but throughout the school. Because of this, he was elected as mayor of the city on Student Government Day and for one whole day was the chief executive of Wyandotte. As a result of his leadership of other elective and appointive officers on that occasion, a letter of appreciation was sent by the full-time mayor.

Salutatorian

When Roseann Nagy was graduated from Woodrow Wilson Junior High School, she looked with great anticipation to the three years she would have at Roosevelt. There, she would have an opportunity of continuing with her instrumental music.

Almost as soon as she registered for her academic subjects, she signed up for orchestra and spent many hours in one of the rehearsal rooms mastering difficult passages. Music occupied most of her activity time at Roosevelt and she was a member of the orchestra for three years.

Other activities did not appeal too much to the girl, who was to graduate third in her class; she was dedicated to her music.

Because of her scholastic achievement she was named to Tri Alpha.

As a commercial student, she varied the humdrum of typing, puzzling bookkeeping and those funny little figures that comprise a new alphabet in transcription by joining co-op. This she found to be an interesting diversion.

they traveled all the way with us JUNE. . . 1961

September 1958 was a big year for our class, for it was then we started as sophomores. As the lowest class, we were the butt of many upper-classmen pranks. But we took them on the chin and soon become an active part of a great function.

Then, at last we became Juniors. We all moved under one roof, the auditorium, which was to become our home for the next two years.

To guide us on our journey, we elected Tom Roos as our class president, Bill Smith as vice president, Karen Burson as secretary, and Ida Mayotte served as treasurer.

One of the high-lights of our travels was the day we received our long awaited class rings. You've never seen so many shiny fingers at once. This made us the official class of 1961.

We made our first "million" at the Homecoming football game where we ran the concession. From there on in, we were a mighty working force always ready to tackle our next task.

The next task happened to be the "Christmas Cabaret," which started us on our second "million." We worked the entire day on transforming the gym into an enormous Christmas package.

Our Junior Play, "A Room Full of Roses," will long be classified as one of the greatest plays ever to be presented at R.H.S. Many of us will remember it always as "C.B.'s Curtain Call." Everyone that knew Charles Burkett, director, couldn't help but love him. He was everyone's pal and the entire school hated to see him leave.

"Holland Holiday" was the theme for our big Junior Prom. At our prom we not only tip-toed through the tulips, we waltzed, cha-cha'd, jitterbugged, and some of us even stumbled.

Our destination was finally reached. We, at last, became full-fledged, honest-to-goodness Seniors. We proudly turned our rings around knowing this was still another step closer to our final parting.

Chosen of the Seniors, by the Seniors, and for the Seniors to lead us through our mighty year were John Doney as our class president, Doug Milkins as vice president, Gerry Loposhon as secretary, and Dan Balogh acted as treasurer.

Our next stop was our Senior Play. "The Golden Fleecing," a rip-roaring comedy proved to be one of the funniest, if not the funniest, play ever presented at R.H.S. This was not only a success for us, but it was the first of many successes about to come to Miss Janet Mix, our director.

Our own Senior Prom, "Midnight Myth" took us to ancient Greece where all were transformed into Gods and Goddesses. Though our trip lasted only for one night, the "Myth" will be told and retold for many years yet to come.

Now we're leaving, and behind us we will leave a great part of us; a part of our good times and a few of our sorrows which will all go toward making succeeding years as wonderful as the preceding three.

Our journey has been a long one and a hard one, but it has also been a very successful one!

With all-A scholastic grades during her high school career, Arlene Alton tied with Cathie Caruso as valedictorian of the June class.

Editor-in-chief of the Wy-News, Arlene has been a member of the staff for three years. Last summer, she was sent by the Wy-News to a summer journalism clinic at the University of Michigan.

She is on the Annual staff, has been a member of the Girls Athletic Association for three years, Thespians for two years, Quill and Scroll, Tri Alpha for three years and a member of the discussion group. She won a letter in debating, received commendation on the National Merit Scholarship Test, and was elected to the National Honor Society. She is also a member of the World As A Community class. Abilene, Texas is the exchange school.

No mark less than an A is the scholastic average of Cathie Caruso during her high school days. Tied with Arlene Alton for valedictorian honors, the two girls made history at Roosevelt High School. This is the first time in the history of the school that two people have tied for valedictorian honors with all-A marks.

Like Arlene, Cathie holds an editorship on the Wy-News. She has been a member of the staff for a year and during her second semester advanced to a co-editorship in sports.

The valedictorian is also interested in girls sports and has been a member of the GAA for three years. She has served as president of the organization for one year.

Named to Tri Alpha three years, elected to National Honor Society and winner of the Bausch and Lomb award for science are other honors that have come to Cathie. She also won commendation on the National Merit Scholarship Test.

Like Arlene, she is a member of the WAAC class.

Third high in the June graduating class of approximately 430 diploma-bound students, Susan Gerlach completed her high school career with a scholastic average of 3.85.

There was really no conspiracy, but by excluding boys from top honors, the girls sort of established a "no-man's land."

Like her two companions of the top three, Susan has been a staff member of the Wy-News for two years and is now on the advertising staff. She is also a staff member of the Senior Annual.

Directing her talents to the musical field, Susan plays in the Roosevelt marching band and was elected president of the blue band.

She has been a Tri Alpha member three years and was elected to the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll.

Tied for third high was Prudence Buck with a 3.85 average. She is the fourth of the top four to be on the Wy-News staff. During her final year, she was named associate-editor. Prudence is also a member of the Senior Annual staff.

Because of scholastic achievement, she has been a member of Tri Alpha all three years and was elected to National Honor Society. During her first year at Roosevelt, she was a member of GAA and then turned her efforts to music where she has been a member of the glee club, choir and chorus. In the choir she earned both a letter and a pin. Prudence was chosen to Quill and Scroll for work in journalism and on the Wy-News. She is also a member of this year's WAAC class.

Teachers and Fellow Students,

Having been an exchange-student at R.H.S. for the last two semesters, I take this chance to thank all of you who made my stay pleasant and full of experience.

As Lee and Marjan I was sponsored during the past year by the Michigan Council of Churches program which operates mostly around Michigan and gives students from other countries the opportunity to study the American people and the American life.

My stay here is full of only great experiences and I think these impressions will help to bring the understanding of our two countries to a much higher level.

Of course Germany is quite different in many things, but I think people are the same all over. One difference for example, is that after I have graduated here with you, I will have to suffer one and a half more years of school, when you are already off to college.

In this sense I hope you won't forget me, as I'll never forget my stay here. And don't worry, I will come back one of these years.

Rudy Tourne

Dear Friends,

It is very difficult to decide what to write, if you would like to say so much, but only can use 150 words. I could not possibly describe the wonderful time I had with you at Roosevelt this year, as one of the "mighty seniors of '61," in a few sentences.

I enjoyed my classes very much and we have had so much fun in clubs, at games, and parties. You know one thing I did not like? . . . the meatloaf, but I did like "Bunnell's famous quizzes"!

I can hardly believe that soon it will be a year since I left my hometown Groningen in the Netherlands. Then I will have to leave my American mother, Mrs. Simmons, and all my new friends to return to my own parents and brother and sisters. But I will never forget you!

I thank all of you who made this year unforgettable for me. Tot Ziens!

Marjan Berghuis

Dear Teachers and Friends,

Was not long, and my wonderful year in Wyandotte is over. I have to say good-bye to the Mohr family, my sister Mary Jane, and to all of you, whom I got to like so much in this past year.

In the beginning I had some trouble at school with all the rooms, my locker, and many other things. But now I know dear old Roosevelt from the bottom to the top and I feel at home.

My classes, especially Robert Rattray's discussion and debating, helped me to understand America and its people. But I learned other things too; how to cheer at games of our big teams, how to manage sleeping at "P.J." parties, and how to "T.P." a house.

Through all the work and fun with you teachers and friends, this last year was so wonderful and memorable for me. Thanks a lot for everything you did for me. I hope I can see some of you again, either here in America or in Germany. Auf Wiedersehen!

Yee Harkwing

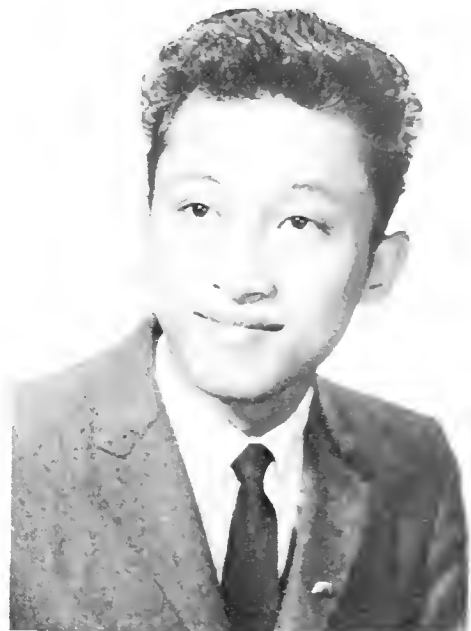

Dear Friends,

"I'm an American Field Service exchange student from Indonesia. No words to figure how glad and happy I am, having a chance to visit the U.S.A., especially to the kindness and friendliness of the people in Wyandotte, including the Roosevelts, of course. This is the thing that won't be easy being forgotten and I'll never forget it for my whole life.

"Here, in Wyandotte, I stay with Dr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor, and I have four brothers. They are a lively, happy, humorous family that will become my mirror and guide of my future. At home I have four brothers and one sister. My father is a farmer.

"I know I'll miss you in time I've to leave you, but won't forget to all of the Roosevelts where I've gained the most wonderful experience of my life."

MIRIAM JACKSON

Dennis Frostic spent a very enjoyable two-month summer vacation in Frankfurt, Germany on the River Main.

Dennis easily became a member of the Beyschlag family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Beyschlag, two teenage daughters, and Gangolf, the high-school-aged son. The family's residence is in an apartment house and the father of the family works with young refugees from East Germany.

Like any other visitor to Europe, Dennis spent a great deal of time snapping pictures and touring the countryside. He was fortunate in having the opportunity to take a side trip to Switzerland and to see Luxemburg. He also had the valuable experience of helping with the harvest on a farm north of Frankfurt.

Dennis feels that the Council of Churches is a wonderful program, giving its applicants the benefits of a summer of fun and education abroad.

DENNIS FROSTIC

While the world shook with repercussions of the U.S.-Soviet hostilities, Dianne Mahalak eagerly continued her plans to spend the summer in Finland only miles from the Russian border. Sponsored by the Council of Churches Program, Dianne was able to spend two months as a member of Reino Saarinen family.

In her Finnish family, her father was the manager of Esab, a welding firm; her mother was housewife; two brothers, Isto and Harri, were ambitious students; and Rouno was a rollick-some four year old.

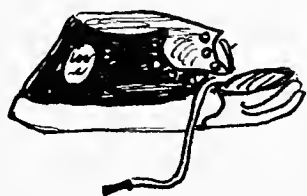

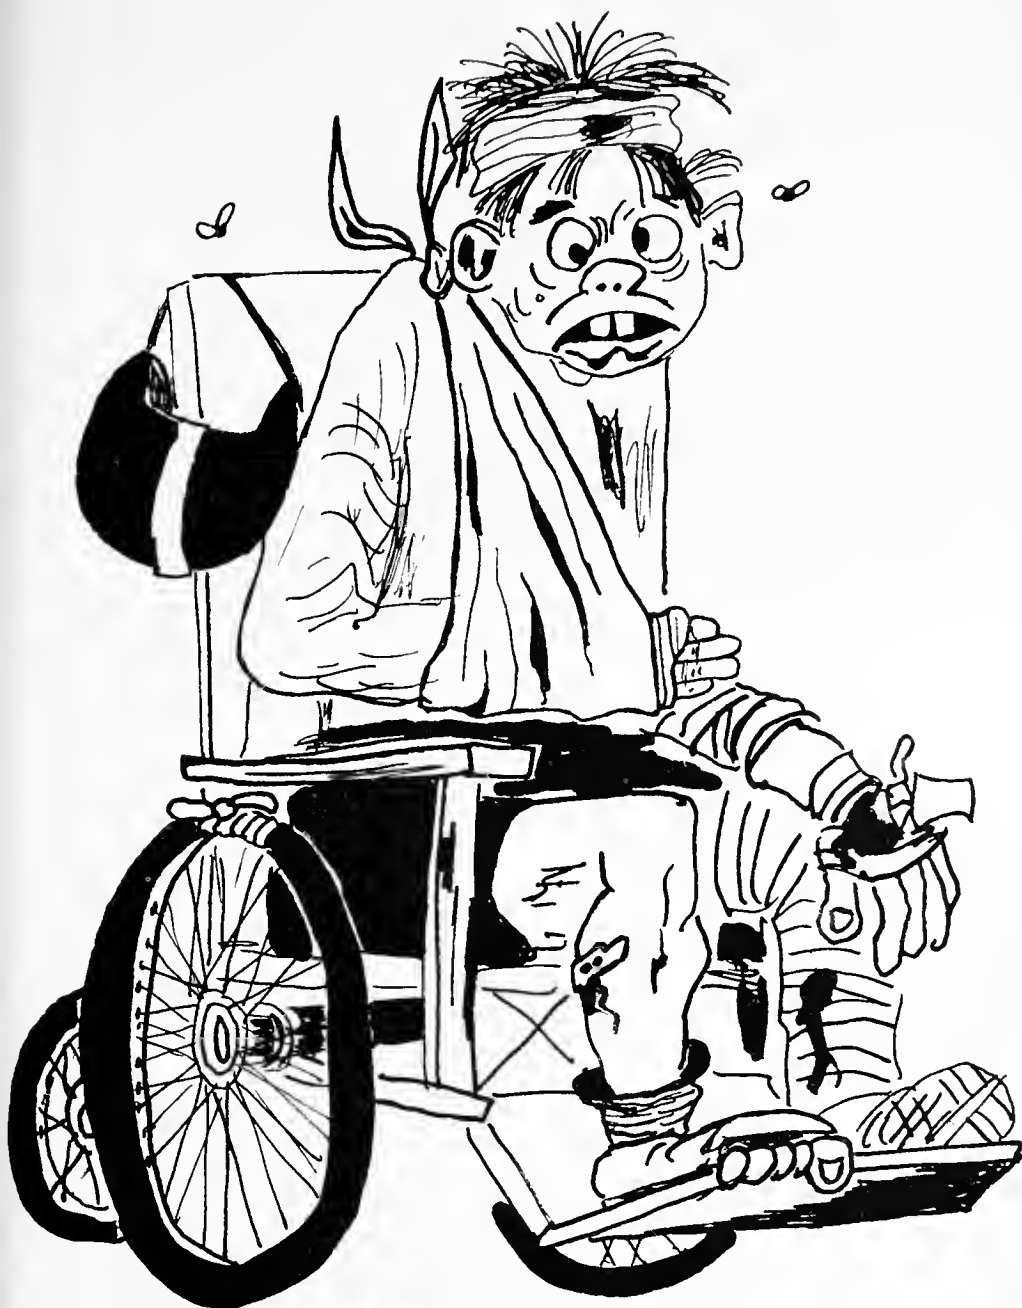

Dianne lived in Turku, the oldest city in Finland, which is known for its distinctive modern architecture combined with the quaint buildings of the past; especially famous is a church dating back to the 13th century.

"The ordinary tourist sees only a very small part of any country," Diane said. "We exchange students were privileged because we not only saw the historic monuments and places, but by living with a family in a foreign country we actually became a part of that country. It was an experience I shall never forget."

what's our motto? . . . action!

With a new coach at the helm of gridiron activities and the team from the previous year depleted of key players because of graduation, football fortunes at Roosevelt followed a building process.

Coach David Kragthorpe had a smaller list of candidates than in past years but demonstrated from the start that he knew football and how to wield his players into a strong unit playing for the good of the team rather than striving for individual glamour. He was ably assisted by Derwood Drobot and John Chalapis, assistant coaches.

The Bears started the season in satisfactory manner by downing a rugged Trenton team 14 to 7. Any undue ego built up by the players was quickly reduced when a strong Pontiac team fed on luscious Bear steaks to the tune of 47 to 0.

Starting the Border Cities League season against a heavy, fast Grosse Pointe team, the Bruins battled on even terms during the first half only to give way to superior strength in the final two quarters and lost 38 to 7.

Wyandotte won by a toe in the second Border Cities League contest by downing Monroe 13 to 12. It was the goal kick for extra point that prevented a tie score.

Fordson, perennial enemy of Wyandotte, athletically blanked the Golden Bears 26 to 0. Fordson always has a strong team well drilled in fundamentals and always anxious to mix it up with any team.

Against Highland Park, the Bruins scored their greatest number of points for the season, and won 19 to 12. Only one extra point was scored after the three touchdowns.

Continuing a "you take this one, I'll take that one", which had been the pattern from the start of the season, with one exception, the Bruins lost to Royal Oak, 34 to 6. This was the annual Homecoming game. The queen and her court looked lovely, the dance was enjoyable, but the game — zowie!

It was time for the Bears to win another. Taylor Center felt the bared claws of the Bruins 13 to 6.

The final game of the season was against Lincoln Park. The Rail-splitters had come up with another outstanding squad. But, they had done this for two previous seasons only to have their bubble burst by Wyandotte's stellar play. This year the Parkers were too much and swamped the Bears 31-0.

Next year the Bruins may be able to smack down more of the Border Cities team and become a contender for the League championship.

We have the coach, now give us the material from which to fashion a great team.

a BUS LOAD of BASKETBALL

Dan does a tummy skid

Deated in their final four games of the regular season, Roosevelt's basketball team finished fourth in the Border Cities League standings, behind Highland Park, Grosse Pointe and Fordson.

Lack of shooting ability by a majority of the squad made it necessary for three to carry the load and one of these, Robert Heinal was graduated in midyear and lost to the squad.

Dan Roble was the leading scorer for the Wyandotte team and totaled 338 points in 16 games for an average of 21.1 points a game. In one contest, he set a record of 40 points and thereafter was a marked man.

The only other member of the team to score in double figures for the entire season was Phil Zajas with an average of 13.3 points. Zajas was leader in rebounds with a total of 181, more than any other two men on the squad.

For much of the season, Wyandotte was tied with Fordson for third place. Losses in the final games caused the Bears to slip behind their rivals.

In an effort to bolster the squad, Coach Bob Eldridge brought cagers from the Reserve squad but none of them added the scoring punch that was needed.

After the regular season, Coach Eldridge gave the former Reserve players an opportunity of showing their ability in the tournament game against Lincoln Park. They showed fight and drive, but appeared hesitant to take shots for the basket.

With several key players graduating in June, it will be necessary for Coach Eldridge to discover scoring ability if the Bears are to be a factor in the fight for League championship during the coming season.

The Bear tankers were an exceptional team this season. They broke every Varsity record that was possible to be broken, and that's ten records!

The team finished second in the BCL to a powerful Grosse Pointe team and had an overall season record of 10-3. In the state meet one boy, Ray Randall, placed third in the 200 yd. individual medley in a time of 2:14.6. The two boys who beat him broke the state record, which will be Ray's aim for next year as he is a junior now.

Putting the Annual to bed about the same time that the first baseball game was scheduled prevented anything more than a conjecture as to how the Bears will do in this spring sport.

Leading "sockers" on the team from last year, Jones and Engler, were again present and Coach Derwood Drobot looked to them for the long ball.

Lost by graduation from last year's squad were Jelsemeno, Hornyak, Martin, Migliaccia and Visingardi. Three of these were infielders, one a hurler and the sixth was an outfielder.

Grosse Pointe, last year's champion, was expected to be strong again this year with Ewald, prize pitcher ready to go on again. Ewald put the whammy on the Bears in both games last season.

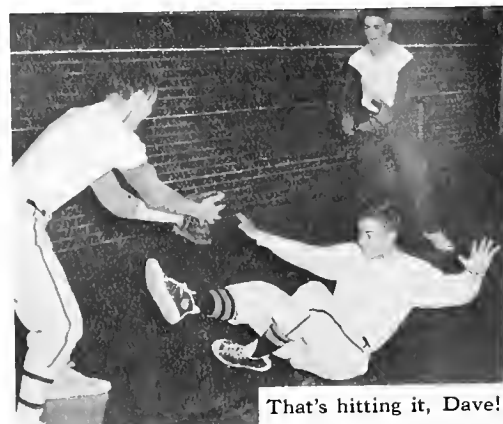

Royal Oak, although not expected to be as strong as last year, will have Dennis, a southpaw, on the mound ready to send up his dazzlers to opposing batsmen. Dennis has the jinx on Roosevelt hitters and has won all his starts against them.

Roosevelt finished in third place in the Border Cities League in 1961. If the Drobot men can divide victories in the meetings with Grosse Pointe and Royal Oak, they will give the leaders considerable trouble.

Co-operation by the "weatherman" in calling the plays will be greatly appreciated by the baseball squad.

Row 3 - Coach David Kragthorpe, Guy Monroe, Richard Garant,

The track team's outlook for the 1961 season at its beginning was very good. More boys than in recent years came out this year. Coach Al Pingel, at the onset of the season, was very optimistic. The team was very much improved over previous years. Besides many returning lettermen, a lot of promising newcomers gave promise of a winning season. Many first places are looked forward to, but the team's depth is the only question.

The boys being counted on for the various events are as follows. In the mile, Jim Veldman, Tom York, Kudrak, and Jerry Palazzolo; in the  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile, Jeff Sonnenberg, Steve Cerovsky, Mike McCombs, and Melvin Foster; in the 440 yd. run, Dan Roble, John Gwardinski, Al Sprunk, and Jerry Mann; in the 220 yd. dash, Bill Crain, John Rusnak, and Dave Eberly; in the 100 yd. dash, Bill Crain, Mack Pinson, Eberly, and Rusnak; in the high jump, Phil Zajas and Harry Foster; in the broad jump, Zajas, Foster, and Crain; in the pole vault, Ron Whitson and Tom Jarrel; in the shot put, Joe Dana, Richard Garrant, Pinson, and Tom Sliwinski; and in the hurdles, Jerry Cerulla, Tom Simmons, Jim Kelly, and Richard Wright.

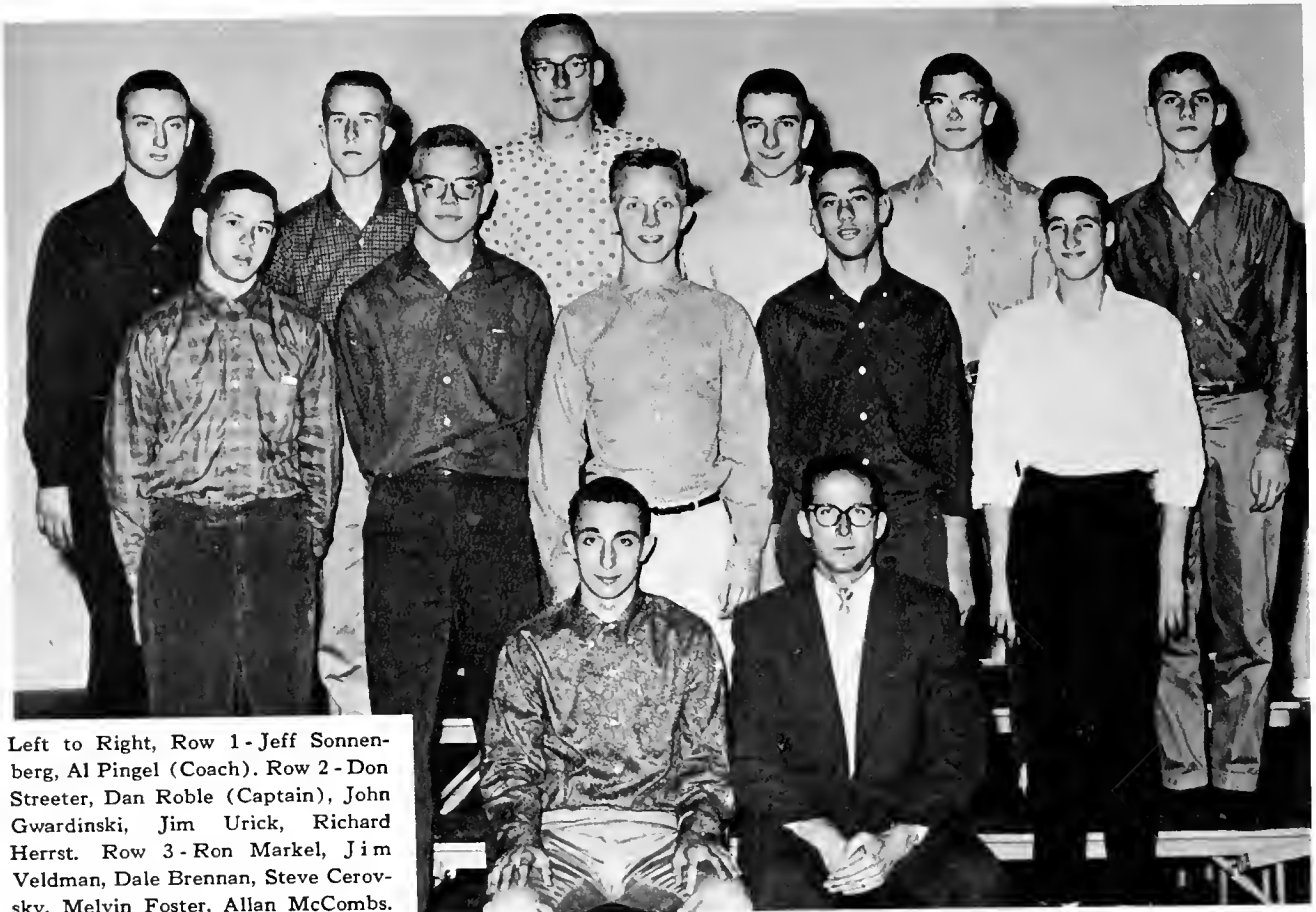

The nucleus of the squad returning from last year consists of Veldman, Sonnenberg, Roble, Gwardinski, Zajas, York, Mann, Eberly, and Simmons.

With prospects of a better balance than in recent years, track athletes of 1961 should give trouble to other Border Cities League teams.

Another successful season was recorded for Roosevelt High School's most consistent team — Cross Country. Again in 1960 the Bears proved to be the outstanding team in the Border Cities League by defeating Monroe, Fordson, Highland Park, and Royal Oak in a decisive manner. Also falling to the Bear Harriers were non-league opponents Trenton, Taylor Center, and Melvindale. Three defeats were suffered — at the hands of Lincoln Park, Edsel Ford, and Riverview.

Cross Country running is one of the oldest forms of human competition. It dates back to the days of the Greeks and Romans. This is a vigorous fall sport which commands the highest type of personal courage. It is a regrettable fact that little public acclaim accompanies successful efforts in this sport. However, this may be excused because Cross Country Courses require quite an extensive area and as a result must be located at some distance from the school and are relatively inaccessible for the average spectator.

This year's team produced two of the top performers in Roosevelt High School history. Jim Veldman and Jeff Sonnenberg consistently finished first and second in every meet during the entire season. Their performance improved each week and in the State Championship meet at Ypsilanti, Jeff turned in the best time ever recorded for a Roosevelt High School athlete. He was awarded a gold medal and thus followed in the footsteps of his uncle, Earl Sonnenberg, who also won a gold medal at the State Meet when he attended Roosevelt.

Fast feet! Jeff Sonnenberg wins gold medal in State Cross Country Meet

sail on with the ROWERS

With 45 athletes answering coach Ben Lupino's initial summons for high school oarsmen, the crew anticipates a very successful rowing season.

Rowing is basically a sport of endurance and teamwork. To prepare for the gruelling contests ahead, the oarsmen must workout for months to get into the peak of physical condition. The crew rows from 7 to 14 miles a day, seven days a week. These difficult workouts will single out the oarsmen to represent Wyandotte in the National Schoolboy Regatta in Virginia.

One of the reasons Roosevelt anticipates a very good season is due to the return of last year's entire varsity crew, which won the 8 Oar Championship at the Central States Regatta in Chicago. This crew also finished fifth at the National Championships at Princeton. Wyandotte will also be represented in the sculling division at Virginia, as Jeff Kreger finished a close second last year.

A tentative schedule has been set up for the Wyandotte oarsmen. Besides the National Championships in May, Roosevelt will be host to crews from New York and Culver Military Academy of Indiana in mid April. They will also row against Mt. Carmel and Allen Park and will be entered in the Central States Regatta.

This appears to be the year for the Roosevelt sweepswingers and with a bit of luck they could bring back a National Championship.

Six seniors played their last high school tennis for Roosevelt during the spring season and will produce a great void in "court" circles when they graduate in June. These six are Graves, Rowan, Hooks, Schiller, Face and Wienecke.

Last year the Hoffman coached netters finished fourth in the Border Cities League and with another year of experience may be able to climb in the race.

When the call for candidates was first issued, approximately 30 youths responded. During the early part of the training period, time was spent in becoming thoroughly familiar with rules.

When the weather changed leading performers from Jack Frost to Miss Spring, the courts at the rear of the Administration building resounded daily with the whack of the tennis ball against the nylons of the racket.

Added to six seniors, who will form the nucleus of the team, are Harriott, Hintz, Jose, Peppard and Caldwell.

Grosse Pointe, a traditionally strong team down through the years of the Border Cities League, will again be one of the favorites for gaining the title, but will be pressed by Monroe, another strong team year after year.

Destination: homecoming

Theresa Tocco rules as Homecoming Queen

An October moon made a perfect background for Roosevelt's annual Homecoming activities.

Amid an array of class floats, waving banners, and cheering crowds, last year's queen, Julie Jeffrey, slipped the crown from her head unto that of the new Queen Theresa Tocco.

Theresa's lovely attendants were Margaret Tucker and Janice Tremonti. All three received flowers and a kiss from a mighty lucky Drum Major.

The royal three were taken to their waiting cars and driven around the field to be received by both the Royal Oak and Wyandotte spectators.

Their reign by no means ended there. The following night was the gala Homecoming Dance. The queen and her court were escorted to their thrones by three handsome football players.

She was crowned by Joe Engler, captain of the football team, during intermission. Every football player at the dance received a royal kiss from her majesty, Queen Theresa.

Although the team was not victorious the previous night, a winning atmosphere prevailed at the dance.

Band Sweetheart and her tired tootsies

"Let Me Call You Sweetheart" was the song played by the Wyandotte Chiefs' Marching Band on the night of Oct. 14, 1960. This was the night they crowned Janet Stamper their Band Sweetheart.

When the whistle blew at half-time of the Fordson vs. Wyandotte football game, the band was all ready to go. After marching to center field, they formed an enormous heart with an arrow piercing the center. With the opening phrases of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", the crowd caught a glimpse in the distance of a surrey with the fringe on top. As it approached the heart, the crowd could see that the vehicle contained the Sweetheart and her two lovely attendants, and was drawn by four noble bandmen.

The three arrived in the middle of the heart and were escorted to the waiting drum major who did the honors. Janet and her court, Diane Letwin and Barbara Beeler, each received flowers and a kiss from the head drum major.

Any senior girl in the band is eligible for Band Sweetheart. She is elected by all of the band members. Receiving the next highest number of votes will be her two attendants.

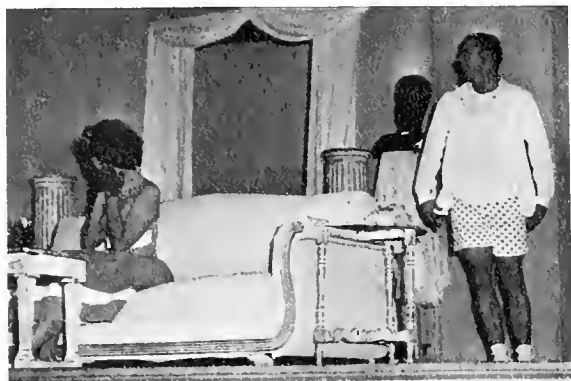

When election time draws near there is naturally a lot of tension right up until they receive a phone call from Mr. Kenneth Hauer, director, saying, "You've been selected as Band Sweetheart this year. Congratulations!"

many seek "the golden fleecing"

dance

The Annual Twirp Dance, sponsored by the Ski Club is one of the most highly attended dances of the season.

Besides just footing the bills for her beau, a girl must come through with her creative talent and construct some sort of conglomeration and call it a corsage! The poor boys are subject to many a girls mad scheme.

The evening is a most enjoyable one as it is spent surveying all of the hilarious creations. The boys, for the most part, are very good sports and don't mind being looked at and laughed at.

The high point of the evening comes when the judges select the best corsages. The couples lined up in double file and marched by the judges. The best entries were singled out and after much fussing and arguing, a winner was picked and received $2.00 for her creative genius. This year's winner was Connie Hurd with her clever corsage for a future architect. Mike Crapko was the proud model!

After the dance the natural thing to do is to go to your favorite restaurant for a late dinner. The girls pick up the tabs for this also.

After eating, the girls help the boys into the car and drive them home. After taking him to the door and driving home, the girls would all agree that they're glad they are not boys after a night like this!

W.A.A.C. class

The World As A Community Class, better known as W.A.A.C. Class is a domestic exchange group. Its purpose is to promote a better understanding between students, both here at home and those all over the United States.

The 24 Seniors are chosen on the basis of leadership, scholastic ability, representation of a cross section of the community in the areas of religion and nationality as well as economic and social background.

This year's exchange was with Abilene, Texas. The Texans visited Wyandotte in late October. Wyandotte visited Abilene in mid-April.

Through the training received in W.A.A.C. Class, students are able to go into the world as more responsible, cooperative citizens.

The Wy News has grown in age with Roosevelt High School for 39 years. It started as a small, three column newspaper, and has expanded to an eight column publication whose make up is patterned after one of Detroit's big dailies.

It is unique as it was among the first to be printed on newsprint, and also because it is the product entirely of the journalism department, never being censored. The hard work of the staff under the capable leadership of James Ostrum is able to cover the school news completely.

For 19 consecutive years the Wy News received All American honors. The past few years the Columbia School Press Association gave the newspaper medalist honors. It is believed the Wy News has won more top honors than any school paper.

There are three instrumental groups in R.H.S. They are Blue band, Gold band and String Orchestra.

The Gold band, under the direction of Mr. Ken Hauer, is made up primarily of seniors and top musicians of the under-class.

The Wyandotte Chiefs Marching Band consists of members of the Gold Band and a few from the Blue Band.

"Neither snow, nor sleet, nor dark of early morning shall stray them from their course", is their motto. The band members have to come for those zero hours many mornings to practice on the field.

The "Chiefs" entertain us during halves of the football games. They also play at the Michigan State Fair, at Wyandotte's 4th of July parade and journey to U. of M. on Band Day.

The String Orchestra, directed by Mr. Frances Harlow, is made up of all string instruments, including violins, violas, basses, cellos and a piano. They present an annual formal concert and participate in the Christmas concert.

All of these instrumental groups end the year with a trip to Interlochen Music Camp. This trip combines learning and fun for one wonderful week.

The money for the trip is earned partly by selling Christmas candy, activity books, working at the candy stand, record hops and partly by their own personal expense account.

Whew! That was the exclamation made by every member of the Senior Annual Staff when the last page of the book was sent to the printers.

When we first began the tedious job of publishing a yearbook, it seemed an impossibility that the day would ever come when our book would be completed. It seemed that way right up until the very day we closed up shop for good and "put the book to bed."

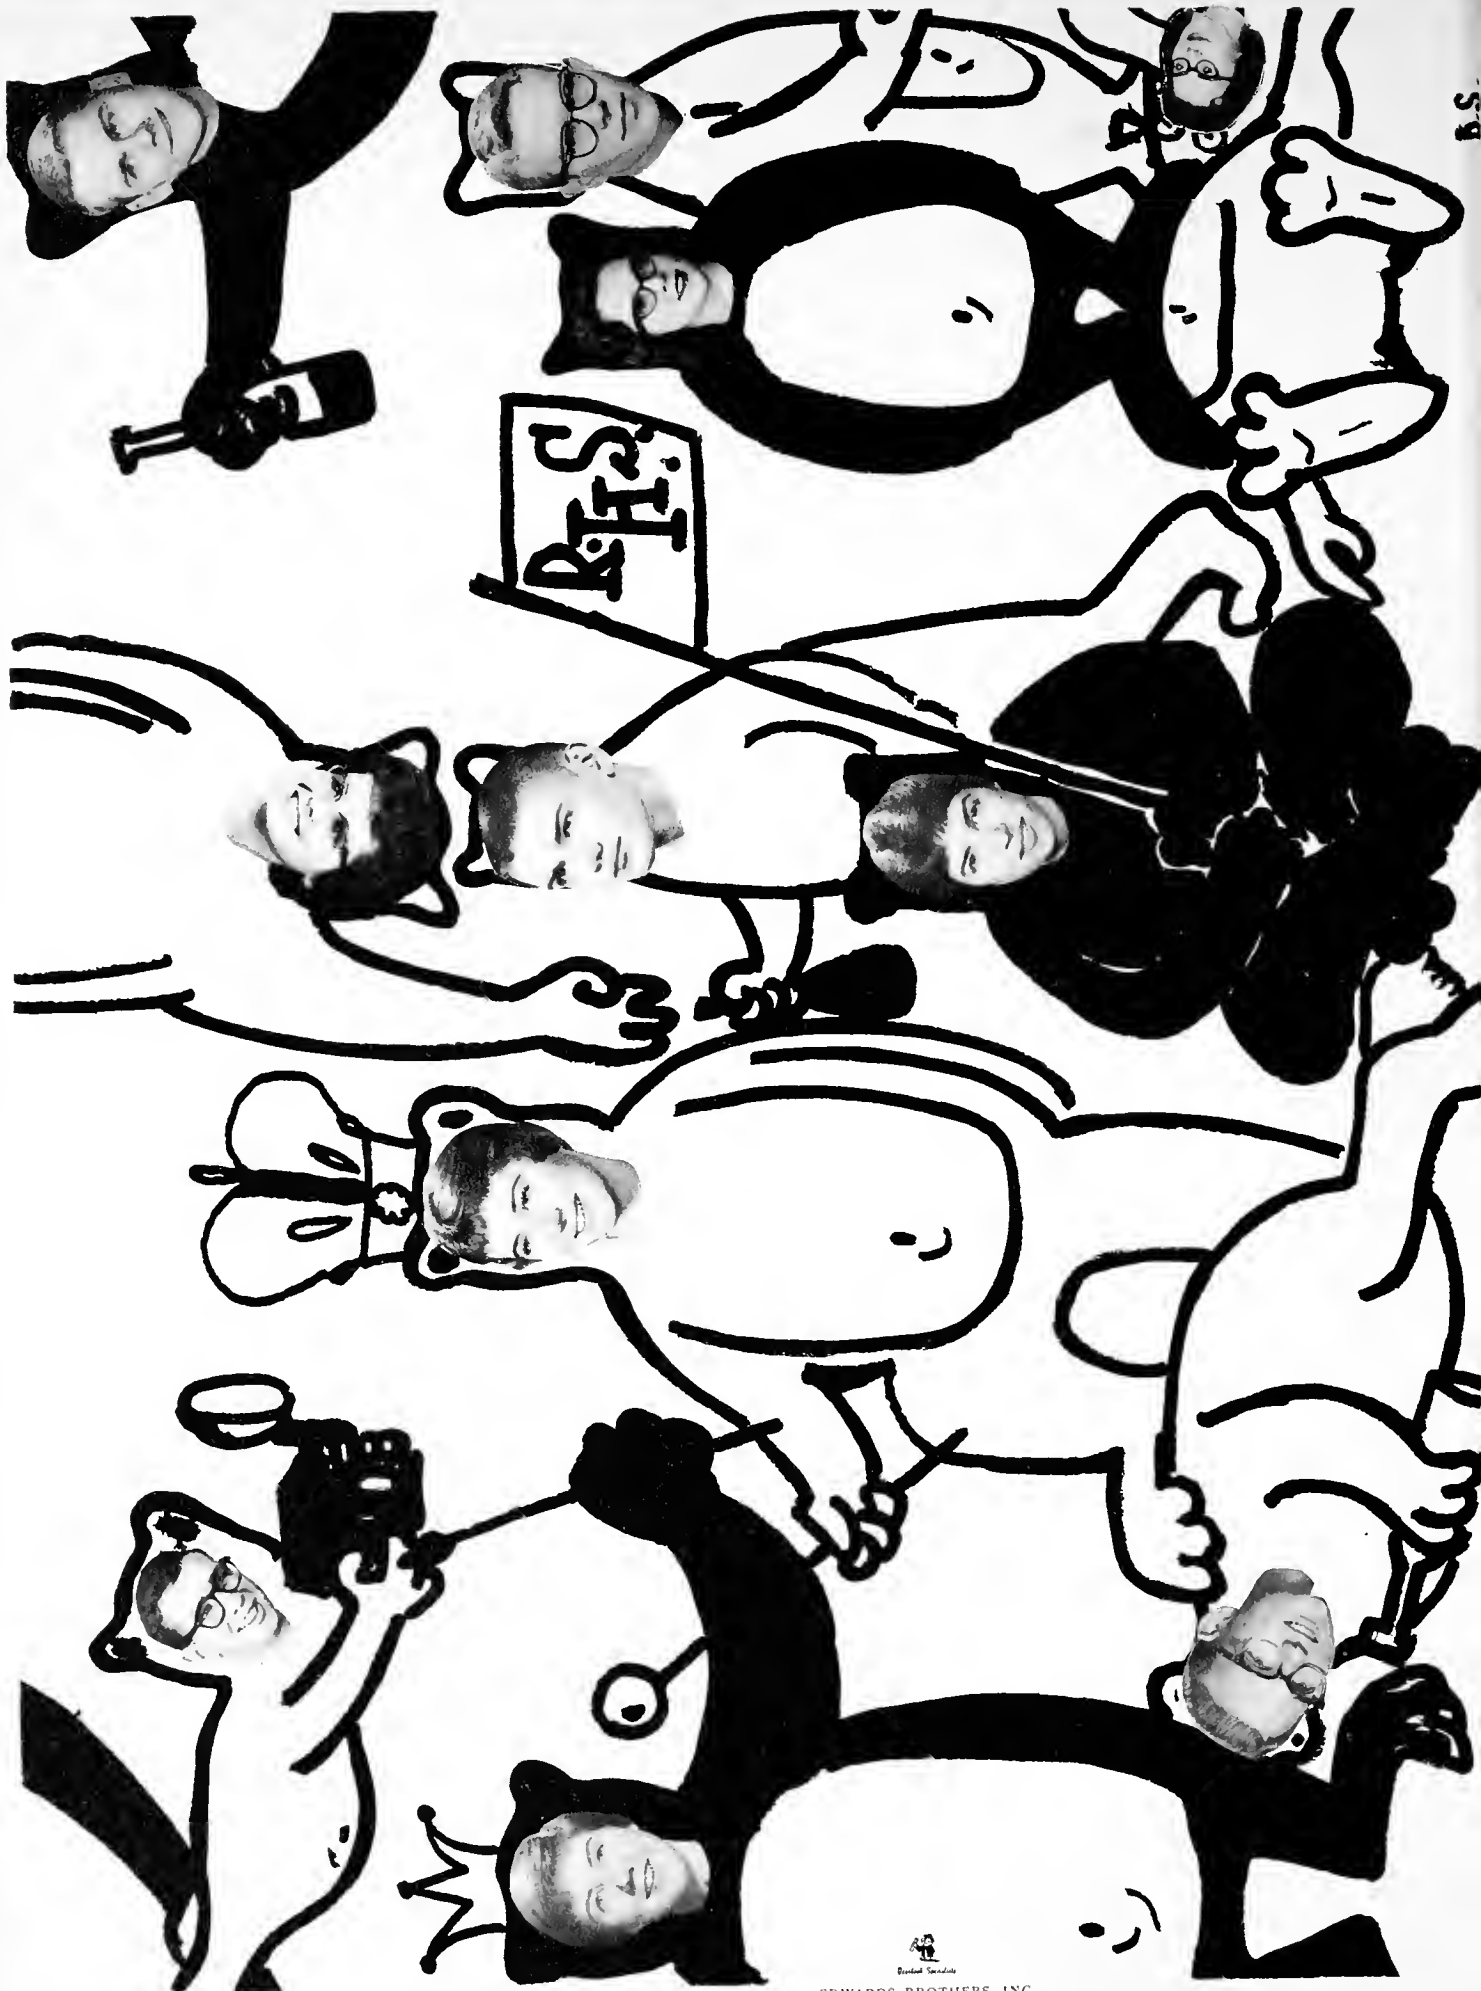

The editorial board worked hand in hand with the staff all the way. We had an especially hard working crew this year. The sales captains were always on the ball too. They were confident in their product.

By working on this book, each of us has gained a sense of satisfaction knowing that we have had a part in its success.

Suzy and I, being co-editors of the Sr. Annual are very proud of our staff and the book they produced. We hope they enjoyed working on it and benefited by the experience. We thank everyone who in any way had anything at all to do with the progress of the book.
